

BONALDO

PRORA

design Mauro Lipparini

A styling mark of absolute identity and easy to recognise: Prora is an extending table, with legs that recall the shape of a ship's bow.

Prora is a table available both in the fixed or extending versions. The frame and central base are made of steel, painted glossy white, matt white or matt anthracite grey; the table top and extensions are available in white painted or white acid-treated extra light glass or in black acid-treated glass. The two independent side extensions make it possible to increase the length of the table top easily, while retaining ultimate stability and solidity. In the fixed version, the top is available also in the greige canaletto walnut and natural canaletto walnut finishes.

TOP/EXTENSIONS:

- white painted extra-light glass
- black acid-treated glass
- white acid-treated extra-light glass
- greige canaletto veneered walnut wood*
- natural canaletto veneered walnut wood*

* only available in the fixed version; the base of the table and the underside of the top are always supplied in the same colour.

BASE:

- painted glossy white steel
- painted mat anthracite grey steel
